TRAINING INPUTS AT PEPL-NST ACADEMY

At Private Eye, another qualifier from a client's point of view, is access to regular training. Our needs are met by a training academy run by a sister concern. NSTA has been set up for the primary purpose of training and orienting new hires joining our ranks. Each batch of trainees goes through client and project specific training to prepare them for the task at hand. In addition to primary training after recruitment, our guards go through periodic upgrades to keep them abreast of new training initiatives.

All internal teams placed by Private Eye at client locations have the benefit of in-house training and many years of on-location experience to ensure reliability and efficiency. Team exposure covers typical work routines, procedural matters relating to people movement, and cargo protection. In some cases, also includes exposure to IT systems linked to front office management, employee movement and visitor traffic.

TRAINING WING HIGHLIGHTS

- Training as per PSARA syllabus (section 05 of the rules.) and aligned to guidelines under National Occupation Standards (NOS).
- Our training programmes are accredited with the National Skill Development Corporation (NSDC) and affiliated to MEPSC.
- Successful candidates are awarded NSTA certificates recognized by an appropriate authority of the state government.

HOW A TRAINING FACILITY CAN HELP

- A dedicated training facility can provide the right foundation for young aspirants seeking a career in security.
- Regular ongoing training programs can help guards upgrade on professional skills.
- Training can motivate security personnel to demonstrate higher levels of competence.
- Training can help people specialize and pursue opportunities that make use of individual talents and skills.
- It can also promote a better understanding of management needs and problems.
